career profile

Name: Gordon Benton
Job Title: Warehouse or Facility Manager

Employer: Smith Farm Supply

Education: AAS, Chippewa Valley Technical College:
Eau Claire, Wisconsin

☀️ After high school, I attended the local community college and earned an associate's degree in agribusiness. I found work as an assistant manager of a farm supply company. After six years, a manager position became available at another warehouse within the company. I applied, interviewed, and was given the job.

☀️ I now manage the warehouse and its security. I maintain inventory records and see that appropriate levels of stock are on hand. It is my responsibility to document incoming and outgoing stocks. I ensure that the inventory is stored in accordance with company policies. I organize receipts and the movement of goods.

☀️ I'm responsible for the operational procedures of the warehouse. I supervise the planning and layout of the warehouse so that activities can be performed in the most efficient manner. I hire, train, manage, evaluate, and discipline staff. I establish work schedules and coordinate vacation days. Safety is a priority of the company, and I see that safety procedures and OSHA guidelines are adhered to in the warehouse.

☀️ I have the kind of personality that is well-suited for this job. I like organization and having everything where it belongs. I'm also good at keeping accurate records. I take pride in running an efficient warehouse operation.
